P R E F A C E.

In presenting this, our first Directory of Clinton County, we claim for it the following: First, That the Farmers' Directory is as complete and reliable as personal canvass and careful search can make it. Secondly, The Directories of Clinton and Lyons contain the exact business and resident address of all mercantile and professional persons as furnished by themselves. Thirdly, The Classified Directory gives all the business men in the entire county, under proper headings.

The printing has been done by Mr. J. C. Hopkins, of Lyons, and furnishes a good exhibit of the typographical skill which has been attained in our city.

Our most cordial thanks are extended to the merchants of Clinton, Lyons, and the county generally, for the liberal patronage bestowed on the work.

F. E. OWEN.

CLINTON COUNTY.

SITUATION, CLIMATE, SOIL, RESOURCES, HISTORY, AREA
AND POPULATION, TRANSPORTATION,
STATISTICS, ETC.

CLINTON COUNTY is situated in the great eastern bend of the Mississippi river (called "Cromwell's nose") which places it many miles nearer Chicago than any other county in the State. It is bounded on the north by Jackson County, on the east by the Mississippi river on the south by the Wapsipinicon, and on the west by Jones and Cedar Counties.

The location of Clinton County is most fortunate, being in the great bend in the nearest approach to Chicago, it has become the great central gate to the interior of the state, and the early starting point of the first railroad starting out with the intention of running across the state to Omaha, Nebraska. In consequence of its location, it has become the great point of transfer of freight and passengers from the river to Chicago and the west, and vice versa.

Its location places it in a climate most healthy and desirable; it being just in the latitude where the heat of summer is modified by cool breezes from the north, and yet far enough south to escape the rigor of the extreme northern winter. Clinton is emphatically a prairie county, with a surface gently undulating and rolling, which in the main is dry and well drained, with very little land not susceptible of easy and successful cultivation. The soil is generally a deep, dark, rich mould, that holds in solution the accumulated fertility of centuries, and when turned up to the sunlight, sends forth its life-giving properties, and produces vegetation rarely equalled.

All the grains, fruits, grasses and roots of the temperate zone, grow luxuriantly, and of fine quality.

EARLY HISTORY.

In this Centennial year of our nation, with its grand celebrations by over forty millions of people, in forty states and territories, it seems proper in the introduction to the CENTENNIAL GAZETTEER AND DIRECTORY OF CLINTON COUNTY, to give the early history of the county briefly, that we may devote more space to the present, and record the events of to-day, ere they become lost in the half forgotten past.

From the most reliable information, it seems that James D. Bourne was the first white settler in the county. He settled on the Wapispicon at a trading post of the American Fur Company, in September, 1836, and remained there in the employ of the Company for some time, afterwards becoming a permanent resident of Clinton County.

This was long before Iowa had even a territorial existence, inasmuch as the land now composing the state had not yet been separated from Wisconsin Territory, which at one time enclosed all the land north of the Illinois and Missouri rivers in its borders.

All this time, all the land between the Mississippi and the Missouri rivers, was a vast, open country, with scarcely a knowledge of civilization. Here the Indian hunted his noble game in peace, his only cause of war or unfriendliness being his own kindred. It is said by many who were here that no more peaceful people existed than the nations of this region, until the encroachment of the traders, and other adventurers, made it necessary for them to defend their homes and the lands of their nativity; which contained all that was dear to them, from the grasp of rapacious and outlawed white men—men who had been driven from the pale of civilization for crimes, and who found their only safety in self banishment.

Coming among the Indians as they did, and do now, representing themselves to be the agents of the government and emigrating colonies, and exchanging whiskey, arms, and other articles to them at fabulous sums, for the furs and skins at ruinous prices.

Elijah Buell settled at Lyons in the fall of 1836, and was the first white man to settle in this part of the country. Mr. Buell afterwards purchased, in company with other gentlemen, the land which is now the site of the present city of Lyons.

At the time of Mr. Buell's advent to this country, but few steamboats had vexed the waters of the Upper Mississippi, and the stream which has become the channel for the transportation of millions of feet of lumber and logs during each season, was previous to that time unfamiliar with navigation, other than the unwieldy "dug out" of the natives.

During the winter or early spring of 1837, Abraham Folks settled at the place now known as Folks' Grove, as also did O. G. Harrison at Round Grove. This seemed to be a starting point or nucleus, around which soon gathered others who were seeking homes in a new country, and each of the above places became noted abroad.

During the next year those who sought homes in this county, were D. C. Bourne, W. D. Follett, Daniel Smith, Eli Goddard, the Aikman's, H. S. Coy, G. W. Hamlin, S. S. Pierce, A. Dennis, J. Booth, J. C. Holbrook, Lorenzo Wheeler, C. Harrison, John Biggs, Martin Dunning, Arthur Smith, C. Bovard, G. W. Aims, the Eyan's, and many others. Many of these brought with them families, and may be classed among the early pioneers of Iowa. Some of them still reside in the county, and are respected and revered by the generation which has come upon the stage of activity since. Many of them are now in the care of grandchildren, who kindly support the tottering steps of these aged lives and who have imbibed the energies and enterprize of their predecessors, and are still rolling forward the ball of progress in this the land of their adoption.

J. D. Bourne was the first postmaster of Clinton County, and his office was situated at the old trading post of the American Fur Company, on the Wapsipinicon, and was called Munroe. For some reason or other the name was changed to Waubesequinon, the name the river originally went by. Mr. B. was appointed in the winter of 1836-37. An early writer, in speaking of this mail route, says: "The mail was carried from Davenport to Dubuque on a pony, by way of the old Indian trail connecting these two points. The ferry on the Wapsie consisted of two canoes, Newfoundland and pointer dogs. The dogs passing the mail bags over the ice in times of thin or rotten ice, when the ponies could not be crossed." We cannot refrain from copying the following incident which happened at the old trading post. "Judge Ingalls, of St. Louis, while on his way to Dubuque, wished to cross the Wapsie. The canoes being out of repair and the dogs being unable to ferry him over, he concluded to swim the stream. He divested himself of all his clothes (except his drawers), and tied them on his saddle. The horse swam safely over, but when the judge made the attempt, he became entangled in his drawers and went down. It happened that an Indian was one of the spectators who stood upon the bank, and being asked to jump in and save him, he ran quite confusedly up and down the bank, till they supposed the judge had drowned, and then jumping in brought him to shore, where, after some exertion, he was restored. The Indian on being asked why he did not go in sooner, replied 'when white man alive he drown Indian, when dead he bring him out easy.'

Clinton County was organized by the Territorial Legislature during its session of 1839-40, sometime before the admission of Iowa as a state, J. D. Bourne, before mentioned, was appointed to the office of sheriff by Gov. Dodge. The newly appointed sheriff called an election of officers, which took place March, 1840. The Board of Commissioners elected for the purpose, selected De Witt, or that location, (there was no town there then), for the seat of justice, though the District Court was held subsequent to that time at Camanche. Martin Dunning officiated as clerk, and had considerable influence in bringing the court to his town. Great exertions were made by Mr. D., and other influential citizens of Camanche, to continue the District Court at that town, but were defeated in their project by a majority of the voters of the county. We find on examination of the early history, that "Hon. W. E. Lellingwell was the first lawyer who made a permanent settlement in the county. He brought a letter of introduction to Sheriff Bourne, whom he found at De Witt, the county seat, dressed in buckskin and a slouched straw hat. He often said afterwards that he was singularly struck with the 'native' appearance of the magisterial officer of Clinton County."

AREA AND POPULATION,

Clinton County has an area of seven hundred and twenty square miles, or 460,600 acres of land. The population of Clinton has become larger in a few years than the most sanguine ever anticipated. According to the census returns of 1856, the population of the county was 13,441, in the year 1865 it had increased to 22,405, and the last census, taken in 1875, gives Clinton County a population of 34,295.

TRANSPORTATION.

With the great natural highway on the east and a large number of railroads, so distributed as to leave no considerable section destitute, no county in the State enjoys better facilities for transportation than does Clinton. Of these roads the Chicago & Northwestern, which runs east and west, through the southern tier of townships, is probably the most important, while the Iowa Midland (now managed by C. & N. W.) and Sabula, Ackley & Dakota, pass in the same general direction through the northern tier. Both branches of the Davenport & St. Paul pass through the county; the main line through the western part, crossing the C. & N. W. at Wheatland and the Maquoketa branch through the Central, crossing the Midland and S. A. & D. at Delmar, and the C. & N. W. at DeWitt. The Chicago, Clinton & Dubuque runs north from the city of Clinton up the valley of the Mississippi River.

HISTORY—PROGRESS—MANUFACTURES—SCHOOLS—RAIL-ROADS—COMMERCIAL POSITION—PROSPECTS.

THIRTY-THREE years ago, the site now occupied by Clinton was the location of New York—not the metropolis of the Western continent, but a city as grand and important, in the imagination of one Joseph Bartlett, who had settled here and laid off a town with the above high-sounding title. This was before Iowa became a State, or even had an existence as a Territory, the whole country west being peopled by savages and the denizens of the forests and the prairies. Mr. Bartlett had also established a ferry running from here to Whiteside Point on the Illinois side. In the spring of 1838 Mr. Bartlett, having arrived at the conclusion that his town, which looked so plausible on paper, would not succeed as well as he supposed, sold his venture to C. G. Pearce, Col. B. Randall and Col. Jennings. The whole finally reverted to Captain Pearce by purchase, and he received a patent for the same in February, 1848. The place, after remaining several years without a settler, was devoted to agriculture, and so remained till 1855, when the Iowa Land Company, who became owners of nearly all the land in this vicinity, laid off the original plat of Clinton, and gave to it its present name in honor of the county that claims this city as its brightest gem.

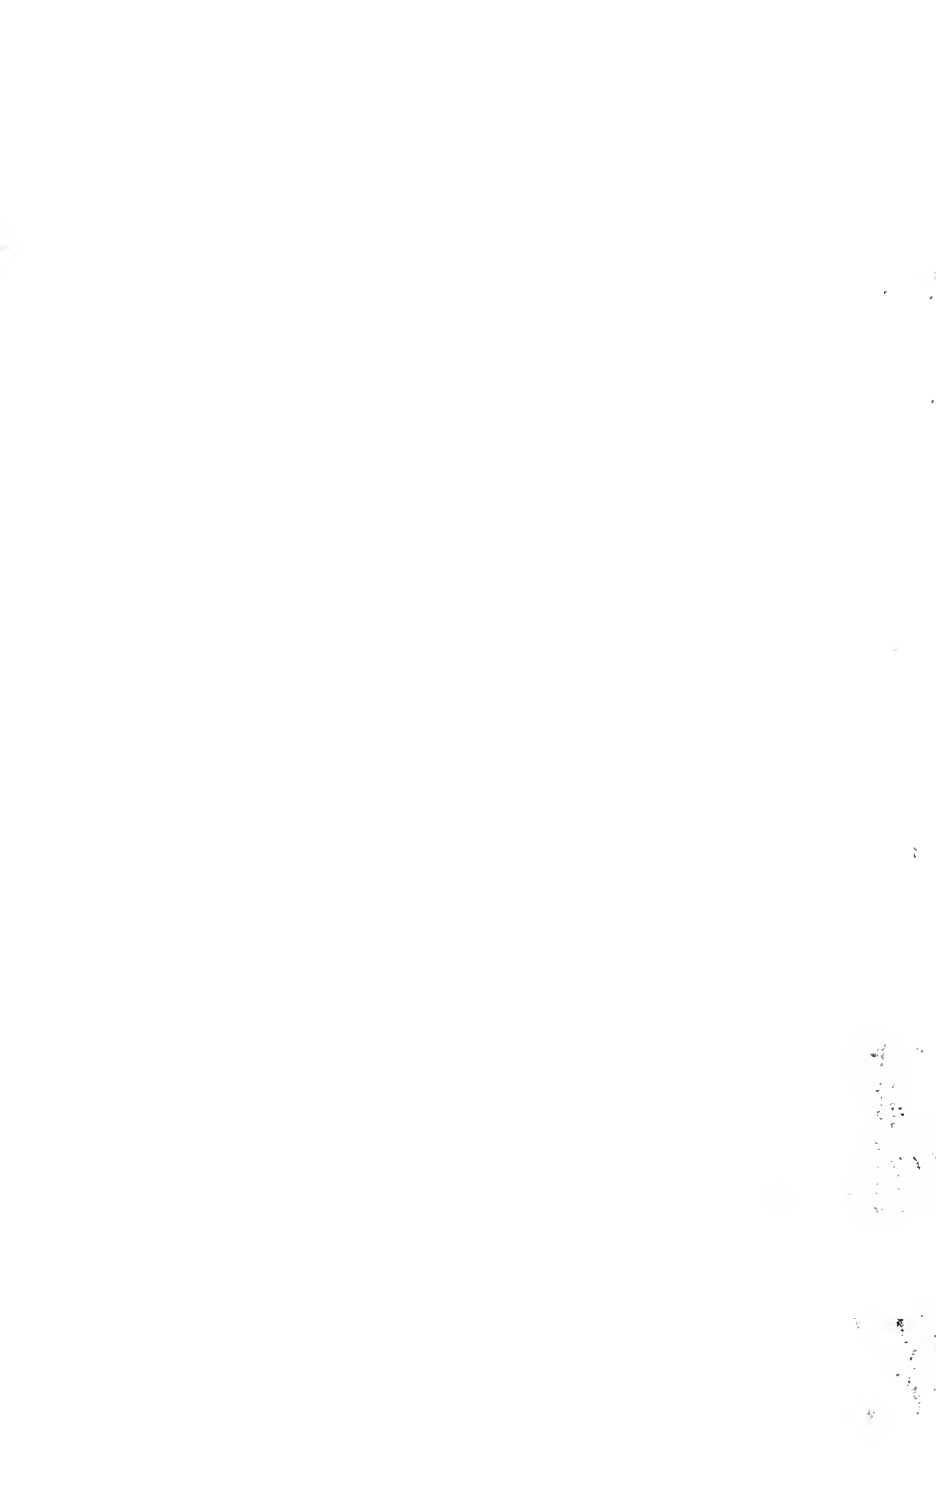

The gentlemen who composed the Iowa Land Company were far seeing and shrewd; they believed that at this point would the great tidal wave of emigration enter the State, and that many of the more enterprising, seeing the advantages here offered for the safe investment of their capital, and for the building of comfortable and attractive homes, would stop, and, with those coming before, build up a city which should be the pride of Central or Eastern Iowa. They saw, too, the facilities offered by the natural advantages of the site for extensive manufactories, as well as the necessity of a railroad crossing, if not the continent, at least two great States, and the natural influx of population and capital as a result. They saw, too, that the great grain and produce trade of the Upper Mississippi would here be diverted from the channel of the Mississippi, seeking a market at Chicago or the East.

Among the first improvements of the embryo city, was a church and a schoolhouse, and the next was one of the crowning efforts of the Land Company toward the building of the city, namely, the erection of the Iowa Central House. They surely intended to offer hotel privileges, if nothing more. These improvements naturally led others to inquire into the future prospects of the place, and all came to the same conclusion, after the second thought. Building lots were sold, and a permanent growth commenced. It is necessary to state that this growth was sustained on the supposition that a railroad would soon be built from this point westward. Indeed, much was said about it, and the excitement ran higher than do railroad excitements now-a-days. A project was set on foot, and a road (the Mississippi and Iowa Central) was being rapidly graded. But a railroad commencing in a town of less than 200 inhabitants, with no eastern connection, and running west somewhere or nowhere, proved a poor speculation, and the project failed for want of capital and brains. Of course all this had a damaging effect upon the fair prospect of the young town, and improvements ceased entirely for a time. Yet this was but a passing cloud that should soon pass over, when the sun of the town's destiny should shine forth brighter than ever. Several like projects had failed, and it seemed that the hopes of our people had left them entirely, when, on the 26th day of January, 1856, the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska Railroad Company was formed. This project was to build a road from Clinton, on the Mississippi, to Council Bluffs, on the Missouri, connecting here with the Dixon Air Line, which in the meantime had been built. This road was pushed forward and completed the whole distance; but, ere the scheme had been consummated, the Chicago and Northwestern had leased the Dixon Air Line, and a consolidation was effected, which placed the whole line of road, from Chicago to Omaha, Nebraska, under the management of the Northwestern Company.

And now, for the first time in the history of Clinton, did the locomotive make resonant the hills, valleys, and woodlands with its shrill greetings. This renewed life in the new town, and strangers arrived daily to settle permanently in the city. It stimulated trade, and had a reviving influence everywhere. When the railroad had been built, and trains commenced running, its future was no matter of conjecture, and from that time to the present it has continued to grow with striking rapidity, until its population cannot be less than nine thousand, and comprising almost all nationalities, and representing almost every branch of industry. During the course of little more than one decade the town has been projected, and is now one of the most important of the twelve Iowa cities on the west bank of the Mississippi river.

Another feature worthy of especial notice is the relative character of the buildings erected before and after the railway had been built. The ideas of the public became enlarged, and with that growth came pride—pride in the appearance of the dwellings and places of business. The spirit of rivalry between towns, as well as individually, too, was high, and, as a result of this rivalry, stimulated into life by the railroad, we may point with pride to our public buildings, business blocks, and elegant residences.

TOPOGRAPHY.

The city is built upon an extended plateau, the streets unusually broad and regularly laid at right angles, many of them being macadamized, and are universally bordered with shade trees. The sidewalks are of plank, and extend through all the streets in the city limits, which are also lighted with gas. At a distance of a mile west from the river are the bluffs surrounding the city in a semi-circular form, and on the south extending nearly to the river. The bluffs afford delightful building sites, overlooking, as they do, a large expanse of country, fine river views, and the three cities, Clinton, Lyons and Fulton, with their 15,000 inhabitants.

POPULATION.

The population is 9,000. To show that this is not over estimated it is only necessary to allude to the fact that the poll list comprises over 2,000 voters' names.

The people of Clinton are to a large extent composed of former residents of New York and New England, with representatives, however, from most of the States in the Union. As a consequence, there is enterprise, industry and culture. These are exhibited in the rapid growth of the city, its successful business enterprises, the high character of its public schools, its fine school buildings, and in the number and commodiousness of its church edifices.

MUNICIPAL.

On January 26, 1857, Clinton became a city by an act of the State Legislature. Indeed, it seemed that the founders of the town, as well as the new comers, became imbued with the spirit of progression and determination to leave no work undone that would better the prospects of the petted infant. At the election in which the charter was submitted to a vote of the people, only seventy-nine votes were cast in its favor, and yet that number was sufficient to carry the measure by a large majority. In April of the same year an election was held for city officers, which resulted in the selection of Samuel Crozer for Mayor: Henry B. Horton, Treasurer; John M. Start, Marshal, and J. M. Ordway, Wharfmaster. With this administration the city of Clinton was organized, and started upon a career which has been unprecedented in its enterprise and prosperity.

Those following Mr. Crozer, and honored with the office of Mayor, were J. C. Bucher, H. B. Horton, T. J. Flournoy, J. C. Bucher again, T. S. Briscoe, W. H. Ankeney, W. J. Young, A. P. Hosford, W. H. Ankeney again, two terms, J. C. Young, L. B. Wadleigh, J. W. Gottlob, C. S. Taylor, C. H. Toll, two terms, J. J. Flournoy, and lastly our present worthy Mayor, J. T. Pierson.

COMMERCIAL ADVANTAGES.

The railway connections from Clinton are the Chicago and Northwestern, being the trunk line to California; the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy to Chicago; the Midland, running northwest seventy-five miles to Anamosa, and progressing northwesterly; the Sabula, Ackley and Dakota running trains from this point; the Chicago, Clinton and Dubuque, from Clinton to St. Paul, to connect with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy for Chicago. The Chicago, Clinton and Western (under construction) is a main line leading southwest from this city. The early completion of a road down the west bank of the Mississippi to form a direct line to St. Louis is confidently looked for, giving this city in all eight lines of railroads. A charter has been secured for another bridge across the river, for which surveys are now being made. These, in connection with the river communication, afford connections with every desirable point in the Northwest, and give Clinton, in fact, the best distributing facilities of any city in the State.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

The lumber trade started here in 1860, and has grown until the lumber trade of Clinton has reached colossal proportions, and is now the largest manufacturing point on the Mississippi, and second to but one in the world. It gives employment to over one thousand hands, including teamsters and raftsmen, and pours into the business of Clinton an immense amount of money.

THE CLINTON PRESS.

A town is always judged by the newspaper it sends out. Its paper carries with it the impress of just what the town is in a business point of view. Its advertising columns are examined and its patronage criticised. But few have an idea how often a publisher has calls for his paper from persons who are about to come to the city or vicinity. Should he able to send the applicant a fine and enterprising sheet, kept up by the generous advertising of business men, and filled with local and general news, it would have a very different influence than if the reverse were the attending circumstances.

The Herald was the first paper in Clinton, and came into existence December 18th, 1876—Charles E. Leonard, publisher and proprietor. Since that date the Herald has passed through many vicissitudes of fortune, and its columns have recorded many wonderful changes in the progress of the city. It is now under the proprietorship of Mr. Waldo M. Potter, who purchased it the 1st of November, 1875. It is Republican in politics, and has a good circulation throughout the city and country.

The Clinton Age, under the able editorship of Judge E. H. Thayer, has been published here about eight years. It is an able Democratic paper, and has done very much for the interest of Clinton in its encouragement of manufacturing and railroad enterprise. It is a weekly paper.

The Iowa Volks Zeitung was first established at Lyons, by John Pflingel in 1866. It has since been removed to this place, and is now edited and published by F. G. Pfeiffer & Co. It has a large circulation both in the city and country.

RETROSPECTIVE.

In ten years Clinton increased from a village of fifteen hundred inhabitants to a proud city of between eight and nine thousand. One of the largest lumber trades of the world has been built up here, and one which is comparatively in its infancy. Manufactures of every class, almost, have sprung up. Many small retail establishments have increased their capacity, and are now doing a large jobbing business. Several large schools have been built, and churches have been erected. New railroads have been projected and are now in course of construction. The finest railroad bridge that spans the Father of Waters, has been thrown across this majestic stream at this point. A street railroad has been established, gas works put in, and water works erected. Magnificent business blocks have been built, and palace-like establishments opened in them.

THE TWO CITIES COMBINED.

For the last few years the tendency of improvements in Lyons has been toward Clinton, while Clinton has been spreading out the new buildings and improvements in the place reaching over toward its sister city, to join hands, as it were, in rivaling other river towns which have had many years the start of this new city.

Now the business centers are about one and a half miles apart, but the cities have so grown toward each other that the little corporation of Ringwood, which lies between them, is being rapidly overlapped, and the places are in reality one city. The interest of the places are one, and will ever continue to be so. A railroad project which benefits one city, benefits the other equally as much. Any other public benefit, which is intended for the good of either city, cannot fail to benefit the other. The two places may join together and build up a college at this point that might be an honor to this great State, yet one could not well do it alone, and should it be done by one, it could not be carried on without being a cause of direct interest to the other place. As an evidence of what might be done by the combination of Lyons and Clinton, we refer the reader to what has been done by a joint effort of the two places.

Lyons and Clinton joined in an effort to remove the county seat from De Witt to this place, and was decidedly successful. They joined their forces to build the Iowa Midland Railroad, and as a result the road is completed to Maquoketa. They joined together to build a street railway, and within three months after the charter was obtained, the cars were running between the two cities. Excursion parties which are gotten up by the parties of one town, would often fail, but by the co-operation of the other, they are always made a success.

The combined population of the two places is about thirteen thousand, which of itself forms a city with but few equals in the State. The manufacturing interests are greater in the two places than any other city in the State, and the lumber manufacturing trade is greater than at any other point in the world. By the combination of the two places, other great railroad projects may be made enduring realities, which neither city can accomplish alone. Surely no one can deny that the interests of both cities are closely allied, and that either city is working against its own direct interest to act independent of the other. Undoubtedly the two cities will always co-operate on questions which seem of equal advantage to both, whether they are consolidated or not, and, as the years speed by, no power can hinder them from becoming more closely allied each passing year.

Clinton and Lyons, as one, are recognized throughout the State as the most important point on the Mississippi, and but a short time will pass ere our city will rival that of any other river town. From its present proud pre-eminence as a manufacturing point, it is destined to grow stronger, and bid defiance to all rivals in that interest.

That Clinton and Lyons will become consolidated as one city, under one name, is as yet uncertain, but we think that a majority of the people in both towns are in favor of it. That result will be defeated only by the old local prejudice that still exists on the part of those whose interests have conflicted, and who are so selfish and exclusive in their notions that that they cannot but curse, within their souls, the fates which have built up a city at their very doors. This feeling exists, not only in one town, but in both; but it is being rapidly drowned out by a strong popular sentiment in favor of a more free interchange of trade, and of working for the interests of both places, when the benefits conferred apply alike to both places. An interchange of trade between the two places is not all that is necessary. The twin cities must become closer allied; there must be a marriage; a change of the name of one or the other, as well as a single corporation for both. Then the interest of one cannot in the least conflict with those of the other.

Great railroad projects are yet to be worked out, which will be of direct interest to both places. Great manufacturing schemes are yet to be realized, and no person can look into the future ten years without seeing in imagination, a line of tall smoke stacks reaching along the river bank, from one town to the other, marking the long line of factories which shall have been built ere that time, and which shall employ two thousand workmen to operate the machinery, which shall be turning the monstrous wheels, and grinding out profits which shall be expended in building up this metropolis of Iowa.

One hundred thousand dollars, at least, is now paid out monthly in Clinton and Lyons by manufacturers and the railroad shops. Shall it be made half a million in the next ten years? Can factories to that extent be made to pay here? These questions are merely absurd. There are woolen factories to be built; there are reaper factories to build, there are plow factories, and other implement factories to establish, and a thousand other departments of manufacture to be put in operation in this great city that is to be. These great results can be attained only by the joining together of the forces of both places. The question arises just here, is that result desirable to both places? or are there those yet who had rather the two cities should again be wrapt up in their exclusive individualism, than that such results should follow a union of the two cities.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

The people of Clinton are justly proud of their Public Schools. From the autumn of 1860, when the district numbered four hundred and fifty pupils between the ages of five and twenty-one years, the number has constantly increased, until now the number cannot reach far short of eighteen hundred. Five thousand dollars in bonds were appropriated in March, 1860, for the purpose of erecting another building on the west side of De Witt park. That, reader, was the commencement of the present magnificent brick building that now occupies that site.

Thirty-one teachers are now engaged in the schools, and have an attendance of about fourteen hundred pupils. Four buildings are employed to accommodate this army of children, and the probabilities are that the number will continue to increase from year to year, as the city increases in population.

THE RAILROAD BRIDGE.

Upon the projection of a railroad west, it was thought that a bridge at this point would be expedient at some future time, and the road was constructed with that view. When the road had been built as far west as Cedar Rapids, and traffic commenced, the building of the bridge was found to be absolutely necessary, and consequently steps were taken at once for its construction. Little Rock Island is situated in the Mississippi river at this point, the main channel of the stream passing it on the west side. It was deemed expedient to build that portion on the east side connecting with the road which passed up on the east side of the river to Fulton, and east to Chicago.

CLINTON AND LYONS HORSE RAILROAD.

This important mode of travel between Clinton and Lyons, was projected in August, 1869. The company had but fairly organized when work was commenced on the road, and by the 18th of November, the cars were running. It extends from the ferry landing in Lyons (a distance of three and three-fourths miles) to J. R. & A. Bather's nursery and flower garden. The road is in a very efficient state, under the superintendence of the energetic secretary and treasurer, L. T. Sloan.

GAS WORKS.

The Clinton Gas Light and Coke Company was organized August 3d, 1869, with a capital of $60,000.

During the year 1870 they constructed a gas house and works, at a cost of $55,000. The mains and pipes have been laid, lamp posts have been erected, and to-day, November 1st, 1876, we cheerfully record the fact that there are over eight miles of gas pipe laid in the city. Although many predicted that the enterprise would be a failure, it is now paying well, owing to the efficient management of the superintendent, Mr. O. Messer. Stock cannot be bought at par, while gas is furnished cheaper than in many other cities on the Up River. Mr. Messer is also superintendent of the Clinton Water Works Company, which have in operation already over eight miles of mains.

Read what one of the most widely known citizens of Iowa says of

Dr. Cram's Fluid Lightning.

DES MOINES, IOWA, Sept. 29th, 1875.

Being in attendance at the Iowa State Fair one year ago, I witnessed the cure of several ladies and gentlemen almost instantaneously of Headache and Neuralgia by the application of Dr. Cram's Fluid Lightning. I bought a bottle, took it home with me, and gave it to a lady member of my family suffering very much with what is commonly called Sick-Headache. One application cured her almost instantly. I gave it to several ladies suffering with the same complaint, and in every case relief came at once.

PROMINENT MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN CLINTON CITY.

P. S. Towle.

Some of the old merchants of Clinton have maintained their commercial integrity, and continued their business prosperously. Among such men may be classed, as one of the leading representatives, Mr. P. S. Towle, who by his honorable conduct and fair dealing while a resident of this city has gained the proud position of being the principal dry goods merchant. His mammoth establishment, extending from Second street to Fifth avenue, is fully stocked with a new and varied assortment of Fashionable Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Cloaks, Furs and Ladies' Suits. Mr. Towle, buying direct for cash from the eastern markets, is thus enabled to undersell all competitors.

S. G. Magill.

A man who has been known for many years in his several branches of business, and all well conducted, may be said to have gained the esteem and confidence of the business public. Mr. Magill is a self-made man in all senses of the word. He started into business in 1856 in Lyons, as Steamboat and Transfer Agent; moved in the spring of 1870 to his present quarters in Clinton, and is now dealing extensively in Coal, Wood, Grain, Salt, Cement, Stucco, Hair, Drain Tile, Fire Brick. His extensive buildings, warehouses and office is situated on the Levee and extends 400 feet front on Sixth avenue by 400 feet depth on First avenue.

George G. Bauder.

In every city in the West, where property is frequently changing owners, and collections from abroad and at home are required to be made, a good, sound and reliable agency in those branches of business is no less requisite than mercantile or manufacturing establishments. Mr. George G. Bauder is well known as one of our thoroughly reliable business men, and one of our principal Real Estate and Insurance Brokers.

Any person desiring to insure, will do well to call at his office, No. 4 Toll Block, where Mr. B. will explain the character of his insurance business in a polite manner, and point out the best way of obtaining a good, reliable policy in one of the best companies of America. We commend him also to all who wish to have taxes paid, real estate bought and sold, or collections made.

Olney & McMahon.

Among the other important branches of our commercial interests represented, is the wholesale Drug trade, of which the leading house is the above-named gentlemen. This firm was established in 1868, and by reason of their honorable conduct and fair dealing have gained the confidence and esteem of the entire community. Their large store and ware-rooms, situated at No. 518 Second street, is one of the largest in the city, being 120 feet deep and comprising three stores and basement. The stock embraced in this mammoth establishment is complete in all particulars, containing a choice and varied assortment of Drugs, Chemicals, Paints, Oils, Toilet and Fancy articles, and everything pertaining to a first-class pharmaceutical establishment.

J. D. Fegan.

One of the oldest and most reliable Real Estate Agencies is that of J. D. Fegan, he having been a resident of Clinton county, Iowa, for twenty-one years, and four years County Recorder. He has thus become entirely conversant with the details of land transactions. Mr. Fegan has the most complete set of Abstract Books in the county. Consult his advertisement in this work.

Clinton Boiler Works.

The above works, under the proprietorship of Mr. John Alfred, is one of the oldest manufacturing establishments in Clinton. Mr. Alfred has manufactured boilers for all the lumber companies doing business here during the present year, and has done over $10,000 worth of work for Mr. T. M. Sinclair, the largest pork packer in the West, situated at Cedar Rapids. Office and Works located on First avenue between First and Second streets.

A. J. Santee.

One of the leading establishments in the city of Clinton is that of A. J. Santee, corner of Second street and Fifth avenue, who carries on the principal business in Books and Stationery. Mr. Santee has been established for over nine years, during which time he has by his politeness and high business qualifications, secured the confidence and good will of our citizens. His stock embraces everything pertaining to the trade, including School, Miscellaneous and Blank Books, Staple and Fancy Stationery, Sheet Music, Periodicals, Pictures and Picture Frames, etc.

Eucalyptus.

The discovery of the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus was in a measure an accidental one. Mr. Jason Wilkins, the discoverer and proprietor of this valuable curative agent was temporarily residing in San Francisco. For years he had been a sufferer with a dyspeptic difficulty that had never yielded to medical treatment. While strolling along the wharves in San Francisco, he stopped to watch the unloading of an Australian vessel, and his attention was drawn to some peculiar blue-leaved trees, which formed part of the cargo. He picked off a few leaves and chewed them, felt a relief, and continued their use in this crude way until he was entirely relieved from his disease. Having procured a supply of the leaves, he began a series of experiments by giving them to his acquaintances for various diseases and finding almost miraculous results to follow. He then continued his experiments in the direction of extracting from the leaves and preparing in the most effective and convenient form possible the medicinal properties of this wonderful tree. He found, while making his researches, that this leaf had been used to a limited extent in Europe as well as this country, and accounts of its wonderful powers to allay inflammation had appeared in all the leading medical journals of Europe and America, but it had never been prepared scientifically or in quantities for presentation to the public, one cause of which doubtless was the difficulty and expense of obtaining the leaves. Having, however, satisfied himself that here was one of nature's great restorative agents only waiting for suffering humanity to accept of it, Mr. Wilkins at once made a contract at a heavy expense for a large supply of the leaves properly bruised and pressed into bales and shipped from their native woods in Australia to his Laboratories in San Francisco and Clinton, Iowa, where the medical properties are extracted and properly incorporated, either in the Double Extract in fluid form, or in the Troches, a pleasant vehicle, mild in action, in which it is prepared for ladies or children, and which are also invaluable to all in cases of hoarseness, coughs, and bronchial affections.

Of the cures already effected by Eucalyptus in the form presented by this manufacturer, we could write pages. Mr. Wilkins has a score of valuable testimonials from reputable citizens of Clinton and elsewhere, attesting the truth of all that is claimed for Eucalyptus as a medicine, while in no single case so far has it failed to effect a cure where properly used—which is alone a priceless endorsement of its curative properties.

We might write at interminable length of this new medicine and the steps now being made to introduce it—but space forbids.

A. Stauber.

This gentleman has been engaged in the Merchant Tailoring and Manufactured Clothing trade for over two years, and by reason of having the largest stock of Fashionable Clothing, can supply the most fastidious with garments of faultless shape and cut. Being a first class cutter, and employing about ten practical tailors, he can manufacture gentlemen's apparel on short notice, and fully equal to any house in the business in the Western States.

Mr. Stauber's stock embraces a complete assortment of Fine Cloths and Cassimeres, Gent's Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, &c., and intending purchasers will consult their interests by calling at his store.

Ries & Godskesen.

This firm of enterprising gentlemen bought out the firm of Ewing & Young in October, 1875, and are engaged in the wholesale and retail Grocery line at No. 520 Second street, where they have a complete and varied assortment of Staple and Fancy Groceries, Crockery, Glassware, Wooden and Willow Ware; are also wholesale and retail Fruit Dealers, and pay cash prices for all kinds of Farm Produce.

Clinton Commercial College.

The institutions known as Commercial Colleges are of modern origin. They became an educational necessity from the fact that the world's commerce, and especially that of the United States, required a more thorough education for those young men who designed to be clerks, accountants or mercantile men.

The general colleges and seminaries of learning failed, in their more general course of study, to afford the requisite instruction. Hence arose, about twenty years ago, the want of schools of a high grade devoted to the special purpose of training young men especially for mercantile pursuits.

The college of Mr. Riley is of that class, and has been established in Clinton for six years. The rooms, situated in the Post Office Block, Fifth avenue, are large and commodious and well adapted for the imparting of instruction for the acquirement of a solid business education.

Janssen & Struve.

This firm is one of the oldest houses in Clinton, having been established for over ten years in the same place. They manufacture Furniture of all kinds, and as they do their own upholstering, are thus enabled to supply goods much lower than competitors. Their Undertaking department embraces a large assortment of Coffins and Caskets, including metallic Cases. They have the finest Hearse in the city, and are prepared to furnish funerals with all the requisites on short notice, at their ware-rooms and factory, No. 100 Second street.

Pierson & Haradon.

We noticed lately an article in the N. W. Lumberman, that there are nearly 2,000 door, sash and blind factories in this country, the production of which aggregates from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 doors, and an equal quantity of sash and blinds, yearly. Our principal house in this branch of business are the above-named gentlemen, who have been established for about seven years. Their large factory, warerooms and yard are situated corner Elm and First streets. They employ about twenty hands, and their facilities are unrivaled for turning out first class work. The senior partner at present occupies the honorable position of Mayor of the city of Clinton.

Eagle Boiler Works.

Mr. E. Owens, the senior proprietor of these works, is the pioneer of boiler manufacturing in this city, having first established the Clinton Boiler Works, which he subsequently sold to Mr. John Alfred. Mr. Owens has built nearly all the boilers used in the up-river boats, and has the highest encomiums passed upon his work by government inspectors. Among the many steamboats on which Mr. Owens' workmanship has been expended may be mentioned the following: Diamond Jo, Chaney Lamb, Artemus Lamb, Abner Gile, Little Emma, Lafayette Lamb, Hartford, &c. Mr. Owens has lately opened the above extensive works on Eighth avenue, opposite the C. and N. W. Round House, and has associated with himself a practical machinist of large experience, viz.: Mr. Harbron, late partner with Mr. John Alfred. This firm are now prepared with all the appliances that improved machinery and skilled labor can achieve to manufacture all kinds of Steam Boilers, Tanks, Breechings, Lard Tanks, Soap Kettles, Smoke Stacks, Sheet Iron Work. We earnestly bespeak for them the trade and confidence of the community, as these gentlemen are prepared to compete with Chicago, Cincinnati or Dubuque manufacturers on prices.

J. R. & A. Bather.

The Ancient Mythology made Flora the Goddess of Flowers. Her representative agents in Clinton are Messrs. J. R. & A. Bather, proprietors of the Sunnyside Nurseries and Flower Garden, situated on Camanche avenue immediately at the southern end of the line of street cars. They commenced business in 1860, and in 1864 issued their first catalogue, and their present shipments extend over a vast territory. They are also extensive Fruit and Vegetable dealers in connection with a choice stock of Groceries at their up-town store, No. 204 Fifth avenue. A visit to their extensive nurseries and flower garden will well repay tourists and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Raimheld.

To preserve the "counterfeit presentment" of the "human face divine" is now a fact that Shakspeare did not live long enough to know. But the Daguerrean and the Photographic art, one of the seven wonders of the world, has become a popular success.

The above gentleman and lady are among the best representatives of that beautiful art in Clinton. Their gallery, located on the corner of Second street and Fifth avenue, is admirably adapted for the purpose of fulfilling the advice of the poet to "Secure the shadow ere the substance fade."

Dr. E. R. Mullett.

Dr. Mullett has been engaged in the practice of Dentistry for over seventeen years, and has been established nine years in Clinton, and is acknowledged by all who have occasion for his services to be second to none in his profession. Dr. Mullett has all the latest appliances of Dentistry science, amongst which may be mentioned the Backus Water Motor, with the S. S. White Dental Engine attached. Dr. M. manufactures sets of Teeth on Gold, Silver, Rubber and Celluloid.

Robert Siddell.

Mr. Robert Siddell is the successor to V. Santee, and is a wholesale dealer in Grain, Grass Seeds and Dressed Pork. Mr. Siddell has only been established about two years, but has already built up a large and still increasing trade.

J. H. Reed.

A good picture of the loved and lost, or of the beloved who survive are among the household treasures in every family. It was not until the present century that the Daguerrean art of 1832 was developed into the Photographic art of to-day. In the latter art, Mr. J. H. Reed became a skillful artist many years ago, and is now proprietor of one of the largest Photograph galleries in Clinton, situated on north side Fifth avenue between Second and Third streets, and claims to have the best fitted for all kinds of work of any in the State, having the largest and finest instrument in the State. He makes a specialty of copying and enlarging photographs. He employs several assistants, and his facilities are unsurpassed. We recommend all to call at his gallery when wanting first class photographs.

D. R. Toll.

Mr. Toll was the pioneer of the livery business in this city, having started the first day of November, 1855, with three horses, on the alley between Third and Fourth avenues. He employs four hands and keeps the best livery stock and an elegant assortment of road vehicles of all kinds. The Clarence Carriage owned by Mr. Toll is the handsomest in the city, and cost $1,300.

II. F. Bowers.

This gentleman is engaged in the Real Estate business, and having had twelve years experience in the various offices in the Court House and an extended acquaintance in the departments at Washington, D. C., is thoroughly qualified to attend to all business of a general nature, such as buying and selling Real Estate, making collections, Abstracts of title, paying taxes, negotiating loans, redeeming land from tax sales, &c.; also obtains patents when desired. His office is situated in Room No. 6, Toll Block.

Pierson & Kinney.

The above firm, composed of our present worthy Mayor and Mr. Kinney, a gentleman who has had large practical experience in the Dry Goods line, are located at 1004 Fourth street. Mr. Kinney is one of the first who sold goods on Fourth street. They have a very carefully selected stock of goods in their line.

J. L. McCluer.

The above gentleman has been established in business since 1865, and located on Fourth street four years. His large and commodious store on the corner of Fourth street and Ninth avenue contains a large and varied assortment of Stoves, Tinware, Hardware, Cutlery. Mr. McCluer is the embodiment of the expression, a self-made man, thoroughly an adept in in all the details of his business. He carries on a very large jobbing trade, being the only house in this county in the wholesale line. He intends shortly erecting a brick warehouse capable of containing 2,000 stoves.

C. S. Raymond.

One of the leading Watchmaking and Jewelry establishments in this city is the one carried on by the above gentleman. His store is located on Fifth avenue next to the post office, and his stock embraces a complete assortment of Clocks, Watches and everything in Jewelry of the most recherche description.

John F. McGuire.

A good, reliable Real Estate Agency is the one carried on by Mr. McGuire, and we earnestly request all contemplating buying or selling real estate, or having any business of a general nature, to call on him at his office in Bank Block, corner Second street and Sixth avenue.

R. Craig.

One of the representative houses engaged in the Boot and Shoe Trade s the establishment carried on by the above gentleman on Second street opposite the Toll Block. Mr. Craig has been for many years a resident of Clinton, and a thousand and one customers can testify to his ability to furnish everything in this line of the very best description, as he very pointedly declares in his advertisement in another page, he buys for cash, sells for cash, and makes no bad book accounts.

N. M. Bratt.

Since McCormick perfected his first reaper there has been a steady increase in the manufacture of agricultural implements for the lightening of the labor of the husbandman. Mr. N. M. Bratt has been for many years a resident of Clinton and this vicinity, and is the largest dealer in Farm Machinery and Implements in the county. During his sojourn in this part of the beautiful valley of the Mississippi, he has by his high business qualifications and genial qualities made many staunch friends and built up a very large trade, extending over a vast area of country.

Anguish & Rumery.

This popular wholesale grocery house is situated on Seventh avenue west of Second street, where may be found at all times the choicest stock of Staple and Fancy Groceries in the greatest variety. Housekeepers will find it to their interest to trade with this firm, as they, by reason of buying large consignments for cash, are enabled to give their customers the benefit of buying goods lower than any other firm. They are both gentlemen of acknowledged mercantile ability and high personal character.

Francis Lee.

The oldest established drug store in Clinton is that carried on by Mr. Lee, who has been established in his present quarters nearly a quarter of a century. The store is situated on the southeast corner of Second street and Fifth avenue and his stock embraces everything pertaining to the drug and paint business, he also carries an extensive stock of wall paper and window shades, picture frames and mouldings; he has lately returned from the east, where he has been purchasing extensively to replenish his already well filled establishment.

A. L. Ankeny.

"Doc." Ankeny, as he is familiarly called by his many friends and patrons, is the proprietor of the most extensive boot and shoe house in Clinton, situated on Second street in that magnificent block, owned by himself, known as the Toll Block. A visit to his extensive show rooms and store will repay all intending purchasers, as he keeps nothing but the very best and most fashionable styles in men's, women's and children's wear, in fact, his stock embraces everything of the finest make that can be found in the United States, and at lower prices than elsewhere.

Conclusion.

There are many other firms who deserve high commendation, amongst whom may be mentioned: C. Lamb & Sons, Curtis Bros, Union Iron Works, Clinton Lumber Company, J. H. Walliker, City Attorney, Geo. Spencer, Stoves and Tinware; Leake & Eyre, and C. Pipping, prop's of Meat Markets; Henry Kreim, Stoves and Hardware; Mrs. E. J. Harvey, Clinton Paper Co., H. E. Terrence, A. Haas, Harness and Saddles; John J. Flournoy, Attorney-at-Law, and recently elected Justice of the Peace; Frederick Beach, Wholesale Wines and Liquors; Whitehouse & Alden, Dry Goods and Carpets; C. D. Pulford, the largest dealer in manufactured cigars.

HISTORY—PROGRESS—CHURCHES—SCHOOLS—POPULATION

About forty-one years ago the first inhabitant made Lyons his home. That first white inhabitant was Elijah Buell, who is now a respected citizen of the place. He chose the site of Lyons for its beautiful location, having no idea at the time that a city would be built there within so short a time.

Settlements were made at Fulton, across the river, about the same time, or soon after, which relieved the place of that utter isolation that characterized many of the earlier settlements on the Upper Mississippi, yet the place was lonely enough to satisfy the boldest pioneer spirit. The wildness of uncultivated nature prevailed everywhere, and was almost oppressive to the earlier settlers. There were no farms, no cultivated fields, no fences, no barns, no herds of stock, nothing that pointed to the visitations of the white man.

The geographical situation of Lyons is most fortunate, and from its earliest settlement this important matter has drawn a large and increasing grain and stock trade. It is near the center of the eastern boundary of the county at the nearest approach of the State to Chicago, the great central grain point of the country. Its location places it in the finest country in the whole State, giving it a fine trade from its earliest infancy. It was the fortunate location of Lyons, coupled with the enterprise of its citizens, that built up the town so rapidly in an early day.

When Mr. Buell came to this place Iowa had no existence; indeed, the title to the country included in the county of Clinton was yet in the hands of the Indians, and the land could not be purchased either from them or the Government. However, claims were made to the lands by the earlier settlers, and, by a sort of club law, was held until the land office was open, and the claimants could obtain a patent for the same of the Government.

In the fall of 1835, the year Mr. Buell came to Lyons, George W. Harlan arrived. By this time Mr. Buell had made some improvements about his place, relieving the location of that wildness of nature that was so oppressive when he arrived. Mr. Harlan joined with Mr. Buell at once to attract others, and made quite an appearance of civilization of the site. The two families remained the only inhabitants of what is now Lyons until the spring of 1837. Meantime settlements were made in other parts of the county. J. D. Bourne came to the county in 1836, as did Joseph Bartlett, the first settler on the location of Clinton. Mr. William Hogan, with many others, landed at Lyons during the year 1838. Some of them left for other parts of the county, and some went back to their native State.

In April, 1837, Mr. Buell, in connection with Mr. Harlan, Dennis Warren, Chockley A. Hoag, and Sewell Foster, laid off a plat in town lots, and named the place LYONS, in honor of the city of that name in France. The land upon which the town was laid off was entered, and a patent received from the Government in 1840, at which time some additional land adjoining the original plat was added to it.

The town grew but slowly until 1855, at which time it had become a very pretty little village. However, about this time a rapid growth commenced, which at that time was unparalleled in the history of Iowa towns, and only excelled at a later date by the rapid building up of the city of Clinton.

From a village of but a few hundred inhabitants in 1854, it grew to a city of three thousand inhabitants in 1858. This was caused, very likely, by the railroad excitement resulting from the location of the Dixon Air Line road running from Fulton, across the river, to Chicago. It was expected then that a bridge would be built across the river at this point, as a company had been chartered for that purpose, and that a railroad would run west from Lyons to the Missouri river at Council Bluffs.

The reason to be assigned for the failure of these last projects, was the fact that many of the people of Lyons had not awakened to the benefits to be conferred by the location of the bridge and railroad at this point, and persistently refused to donate the right of way through the city, or sell the ground at reasonable prices; in fact, they drove these enterprises from their city, and the bridge and railroad were located at Clinton, which was then but a little insignificant village compared with Lyons.

The population of Lyons is now nearly five thousand, and it is constantly increasing. The American population is almost entirely from the New England States, though there are many from Ohio and some of the Western States. There are many Germans in the city, as well as many from other foreign countries. The Germans have become our most substantial citizens, and are a hard working, honest people.

Lyons remained but a town in name until April 23, 1855, when a charter was obtained, and the place put off its swaddling clothes and elected a Mayor and Councilmen. C. H. Toll, now of Clinton, first performed the functions of Mayor, and the Councilmen were Benjamin Lake, J. J. Mathews, Charles McClay, Thomas Crew, Michael Daly and Samuel P. Cox. Arthur Miller was Treasurer, D. W. Ellis, Recorder, James R. Robertson, Marshal, and Joseph Ward, Wharfmaster. This at once placed the seal "Success" upon the enterprise commenced so long ago, and every man, woman and child in the young city rejoiced that the proud day in the town's annals had been reached. This was about the time the railroad excitement had reached its highest pitch, and when the growth of the town commenced in earnest.

The churches of Lyons is a matter that has received considerable attention, and has made the place noted for its morality and religious sentiment. The churches of a town are a sure index to the spirit of its citizens, and their liberality in this matter is commendable in the extreme. The churches of Lyons comprise the Methodist Episcopal, Congregational, Grace Church (Episcopal), Baptist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and two Catholic, all of them having convenient houses of worship. Among the number are several very fine edifices. The Irish Catholic is especially noticeable, it being a mammoth building constructed of dressed limestone, and finished off on the inside in a magnificent manner.

The school facilities of Lyons are as far advanced as could be expected in a city of its size. The people who live in the city are an intelligent class of residents and have from the very earliest days of the place, kept the educational matters of the place in good condition.

Nestling among a great profusion of shrubbery and shade trees, along almost any of the streets are many beautiful cottages and private residences. In this matter Lyons is far in advance of the newer towns which have not had time to grow artificial groves. However, a great portion of the trees and groves in Lyons are natural, and have been growing for ages, for the special purpose of adorning the present city.

In the manufacturing line Lyons has taken an advanced position and for the number of factories now in operation the town excels almost every other town on the Mississippi.

That Lyons has a proud future destiny no one at all acquainted with the circumstances can deny, whether it be as a part of the result of the consolidation of it with Clinton, or as an independent city. New factories will be established and new railroads be completed to the city. Her school and collegiate facilities will reach yet a higher standard and the mercantile trade will be greatly increased.

PROMINENT MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN LYONS CITY.

Wadleigh, Welles & Co.

The principal lumber manufacturers of Lyons City, and one of the leading firms of the northwest, is this company of thorough, practical, energetic gentlemen. They employ over one hundred hands in their saw mill and yards, and occupy over seven acres of ground. The Saw Mill is 64x154 ft., fitted up with two engines of 150 horse power. Their commodious storeroom, containing all kinds of sash, doors, blinds and mouldings, with the office, is a three story building, 50x80 ft.; Planing Mill 32x90 ft. They have unequalled facilities for manufacturing, being capable of turning out 75,000 feet of lumber, 12,000 lath, and 20,000 shingles, per day of ten hours. Mr. Wadleigh, the senior member of this firm, is a gentleman of high character and reputation, a man of whom Lyons City may well be proud, a man who is ever ready to advance any enterprize set on foot for the public benefit.

Riverside Institute.

The building occupied by this institution was originally built for a hotel, and elegantly furnished at a cost of $60,000. It is very large and commodious, and is located in one of the pleasantest parts of the city, with a magnificent view of the Mississippi river and the surrounding country.

The course of instruction embraces everything requisite in the acquirement of a refined education, parents should consult the advertisement of the college in this work.

First National Bank.

Since the time when the Lombards established the first bank in the world, at Vienna, great changes have occurred in managing the world's financial affairs. One of the evidences of the soundness and commercial integrity of the citizens of a town, is a good banking institution, such an one is the First National, under the management of the vice-president, Mr. O. McMahon, and Mr. William Holmes the cashier, with a board of directors composed of some of our oldest and most respected citizens.

J. H. Potts.

The largest wholesale and retail jewelry establishment in this county is the elegant emporium of Mr. J. H. Potts, on Main street. He was the first to open up this branch of business and he has gradually increased his business until now it ranks second to none in the State. His stock embraces a very large and choice assortment of watches, clocks, jewelry, and the celebrated Rogers Bros. new patented XII plated ware on genuine Albata. Fine cutlery, and spectacles suitable for all sights of the best quality.

D. S. Balch.

A first-class house is that kept by the above gentleman in the wholesale and retail leather and findings, and boot and shoe line. As Mr. Balch only deals in those goods that belong to his particular branch of business, and gives his whole personal attention to it, he is thus enabled to keep a much better stock of superior manufacture, and to sell boots and shoes at lower prices than any competitor. A call at his elegant salesrooms on Main street will convince all of the truth of these observations.

Seminary of Our Lady of Angels.

The Seminary of Our Lady of Angels offers peculiar advantages to young ladies who wish to receive a solid and refined education. Beautifully situated on a high and healthy location, in the midst of spacious grounds (including over seven acres) it affords ample facilities for exercise and amusement, and has claims which must arrest the attention of parents and guardians. It commands a fine view of the Mississippi, and is within ten minutes ride from Clinton or Fulton.

Eagle Iron Works.

The above works carried on by W. F. Rowe, have been established over twenty years, they are situated on the river front south of the railroad depot. The works embrace four large and commodious buildings, the machine shop being 85x40, and built of stone. Mr. Rowe was for four years superintendent of the Union Works at Clinton, and is without doubt one of the most practical machinists to be found in Iowa. We understand that in addition to new machinery lately introduced into his establishment, he has on hand one of the largest stocks of patterns to be found anywhere.

Carstensen & Allen.

This enterprising firm of young men have lately purchased the entire stock of Mr. Wm. Doran, at No. 71 Main street. They are both gentlemen of acknowledged ability in their branch of business, manufacturers of tin, copper, and sheet iron ware of all descriptions. They also keep the most extensive assortment of cooking and heating stoves to be found in the city, with everything in the hardware line "from a needle to an anchor."

H. H. Tietjens.

A good cigar is a luxury enjoyed by all who indulge in the soothing influences of the narcotic weed. Mr. H. H. Tietjens, who has lately opened a new store and factory on the northeast corner of Main and Third streets, is one of our leading manufacturers of cigars, and we advise all desiring choice cigars at low prices, to give him a call.

A. S. Baldwin & Co.

The above firm are engaged in business in the Post office Block, and keep a large and choice stock of clocks, watches, jewelry, books and stationery, newspapers and periodicals, wall paper and window shades, brackets and wall pockets, as well as an elegant assortment of goods suitable for presents.

R. S. Rathbun.

Dentistry has become a special branch of surgery within the last fifty years, and for the last forty years has been a separate profession. The oldest practising dentist in this county is Dr. R. S. Rathbun, who was established in business as early as 1856. The Dr. makes the preservation of the natural teeth a specialty, and during our stay in this city we have heard nothing but the highest encomiums passed upon his skill as a thorough proficient in everything appertaining to his profession.

John Moeszinger.

John Moeszinger is the proprietor of the old established Lyons Foundry and Machine Shop. Mr. C. Moeszinger, the father of the present proprietor, opened these works over twenty years ago. Mr. Moeszinger furnishes patterns of all kinds, manufactures and repairs engines, saw mill irons, cane mills, malt mills, horse powers and mill machinery of all kinds. He also casts columns, caps, sills and door plates for buildings, and makes iron railing, balconies and other castings of all descriptions.

Buell & Boardman.

This live go-ahead firm of clothing merchants are located on the southwest corner of Fourth and Main streets, being gentlemen of active busness capacity and genial qualities, they have secured the confidence and good will of friends and customers. They make a specialty of keeping nothing but the very best and most fashionable garments for gentlemen's wear, as well as everything desirable in gent's furnishing goods, trunks, valises, etc. To the farmers of Clinton County we specially recommend them, as their motto is to sell goods cheap for cash.

C. B. McDowell.

One of the largest carriage manufacturing establishments in this county is that carried on by Mr. C. B. McDowell, corner Fifth and Exchange streets. Mr. McD. employs a large number of hands and turns out the best vehicles of all kinds.

Conclusion.

There are many other merchants who deserve mention in this department of our work, among which may be mentioned Lund Bros., general merchandise; Westbrook & Son, druggists; M. H. Westbrook, general merchandise; Mrs. C. L. Curtis, millinery and dressmaking, and Mrs. Frank Daly, who has lately added an elegant assortment of new and desirable goods for ladies furnishing; L. L. Stahle & Co., bakers and confectioners; J. P. Gage & Son, grocers; D. W. Utts, stoves and tinware; John Tolson brick manufacturer; John O'Neil, wood and coal; Bollen & Philipson, artists and fresco painters; Roeh & Michelson, wholesale and retail grocers; and William Skinner the well known fur dealer.

THE BEST ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

Webster's Unabridged.

"Every farmer should give his sons two or three square rods of ground, well prepared, with the avails of which they may buy it. Every mechanic should put a receiving box in some conspicuous place in the house, to catch the stray pennies for the like purpose.

Lay it upon your table by the side of the Bible—it is a better expounder than many which claim to be expounders. It is a great labor-saver—it has saved us time enough in one year's use to pay for itself; and that must be good property which will clear itself once a year."—Mass. Life Boat.

DE WITT.

De Witt, originally called Vandenburg, is situated on the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, at the crossing of the Davenport and St Paul, twenty miles west of Clinton, and is noted as quite a shipping point for grain, stock, and farm produce generally. It was selected in the year 1840 for the county seat, by William Miller, of Cedar County; Andrew F. Russell, of Scott; and W. A. Warren, of Jackson.

The first sale of lots took place in 1841. The first building erected was a log house, which served the double purpose of being a court house and school, and the first one who taught the young idea how to shoot, was J. N. Wood, who from all accounts gave entire satisfaction. In 1842 J. D. Bourne, the first resident of this county, then sheriff, erected the first frame house.

The town has a decided advantage over the most of our inland towns in the matter of scenery, etc., owing to its high location. In every direction there are broad stretches of noble prairie, beautiful, undulating, and unbroken.

The schools are in a very flourishing condition, under the able superintendance of Mr. Charles Robinson, principal of the High School.

The population is over two thousand.

WHEATLAND.

Wheatland is situated thirty-five miles west of Clinton on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. It was laid out about twenty years ago, by Mr. John L. Bennett in connection with the Iowa Land Company. The first building erected was the Tucker House, and is still occupied as the principal hotel. The Rogers brothers were the first merchants. It was first known as Yankee Run, but subsequently received its present name from the large quantities of wheat grown thereabouts.

There are some very fine business blocks and residences, among which may be mentioned as the principal, the Petersen Block. Much has been done by the citizens in beautifying the town in other respects, which has served to make it one of the most beautiful little places west of the Mississippi.

The educational facilities are all that could be desired, and the churches are in a flourishing condition.

DELMAR.

Delmar is thirty-three miles from Clinton, fourteen from De Witt. It is built upon the lands of S. S. Norton, E. P. Sparks, William T. Willey, and Amos Hurst—now Adam Kehn—and is located at the junction of three railroads: the D. & St. P., C. & N. W., and the S., A. & D. It is one of the most prosperous and enterprising places in the county, and mainly owes its existence to the liberal and progressive spirit of S. S. Norton, who is regarded as the father of the town. At a census made during the present year, 1876, the population was found to be 416.

CAMANCHE.

Camanche is located on the west bank of the Mississippi river, six miles southwest from Clinton. It was laid off in 1846. In 1860 it met with a terrible calamity, when a hurricane literally swept it out of existence. Thirty-two people were killed outright, and sixty were wounded. This retarded the growth of Camanche for a long time, but of late years it has picked up, until now it has become quite a business center. There is a saw-mill, grist-mill, soap factory, and mitten factory located here.

LOW MOOR.

Low Moor, located in Eden Township, ten miles west from Clinton, on the Chicago and Northwestern, is too close to the city to ever become a large place, though great hopes of it are entertained by its sanguine citizens. The town is close to timber and has water in abundance, which, perhaps, are the best advantages the town affords.

This place was among the first to be laid off after the railroad was built. Its first projection entered the minds of its founders in 1856, and Low Moor, like thousands of others, sprang into existence—on paper. The place was laid out on liberal plans by different parties, and as their ideas did not conform in regard to the width and number of streets, the different additions do not join together as nicely as possible.

Low Moor has become quite a grain and stock shipping point. The two principal merchants in that line of business are Mr. Hart and Mr. Dannatt.

The principal establishment in the town is the General Store of Messrs. Vandever & Brazell, who have a very large stock of Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Clothing, Hardware, and to use the homely old phrase, everything from a "needle to an anchor." They are also extensive dealers in Agricultural Implements, and especially "The Gorham Cultivator," which is believed to be unrivalled for the work which it performs: We commend these gentlemen to the residents of Eden Township.

P. J. Schnyler & Sons also carry on a general merchandise establishment. There are several saloons, the principal being carried on by Mr. Thos. Fatchett, another by George Francis Train, (not the original.)

CALAMUS.

A village of about three hundred inhabitants, located on the Chicago & Northwestern Road thirty-three miles west of Clinton, and twenty-eight miles northwest from Davenport. Its location, like all other railroad towns of Clinton County, is on a commanding eminence that reaches high above the level prairie surrounding, so that from the center of the place one has a view of the beautiful country for a dozen miles around him.

Calamus was first settled by R. S. Dickinson, in 1860, but the town was not laid out until 1864. The town first began its career on the north side of the railroad, but in a few years the "business center" was transferred to the more favorable location on the south side.

This, and indeed all parts of Clinton County, are unrivaled in the culture of corn. Especially about Calamus does corn grow well. Other grains are raised extensively, but corn seems to attract the more particular attention of the farmers.

Calamus is growing very rapidly, is a very neat looking town, and the class of citizens are enterprising, embracing the following business houses:

Lyssand & Pearson have a very complete and well assorted stock of general merchandise.

M. W. McCarthy & Co. keep on hand Stoves, Tinware and Hardware in great variety. Their stock of stoves being entirely new will be found to embrace all the latest improvements. They are also workers in Tin-Copper and Iron, and propose to buy all old metals and rags for sale by the surrounding farmers.

C. W. Brown manufactures a superior line of Harness, and has a neat store embracing everything in the Saddlery line, such as Blankets, Collars, whips, Robes, Blankets, &c., &c.

Dr. E. R. Mullett, Dentist, Office 214, 5th Av., Clinton.

Messrs. Buck & Martin carry on Carriage and Wagon manufacturing, while Richards and W. H. Todd do a general blacksmithing and horse-shoeing trade.

The Northern House, John Handt, proprietor, is ably conducted.

Damon Bros. have a large stock of clothing, gents' furnishing goods and general merchandise. The other principal business men in General Merchandise are R. E. Hauck, Scott Bros., Robert Dreschler and M. Dickinson.

J. W. Liebler, lumber dealer and grocer, is also a dealer in Nursery plants, Osage hedge plants, &c.

S. B. Walker, who is postmaster, is also dealer in Lumber and Agricultural Implements.

Scott Bros, dealers in genl mdse.

Dr. M. Y. Baker is a homeopathic physician, and Dr. Youmans, allopathic.

E. S. Randall manufrs of Monuments, Tombstones, &c.

Sennett, Charles, Billiard Hall and Saloon. New place, choice Cigars.

Thorn, G. W., & Sons, dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Crockery and general Country Produce.

Elvira, a village six miles from Lyons on the De Witt road, has been laid out for over ten years; and it is, doubtless, of having no railroad that the place is somewhat behind. It has two churches—one Presbyterian and one Lutheran—also a school-house, at which there is a good average attendance.

There are several other towns and villages, among which may be mentioned—

Bryant, a small town twelve miles from Lyons on the Midland division of the C. & N. W. R. R., is growing fast and will soon overtake some of its more pretentious rivals; has two hotels, two general stores, harness shop, blacksmith shop, and grain warehouse.

Goose Lake, formerly called O'Brien, was first settled by Charles Curtis, opening a store in 1871. Mr. Kruse, in 1872, built a hotel, and is still proprietor of the same. Has a school house, and have recently erected a new station house.

Almont, the first station north of Lyons on the C. & N. W. R. R.

Hauntown, one of the oldest towns in the county; contains a flour mill, built in 1854 by Mr. G. Haun, a hotel, general store, and agricultural implement factory.

Tietjens, six miles northwest of Lyons. Mr. J. C. Tietjens, one of our most enterprising citizens in this county, has erected a large brick manufacturing establishment, where he manufactures cultivators, implements of all kinds, wagons, &c., &c.

Teed's Grove, a village eleven miles from Lyons, contains a flour mill, kept by Mr. William Pahl, a wagon manufactory, by Mr. C. J. Lange, hotel, by Mr. Will, also a general store.
